BUILDING UP SINGLE WOMEN TO HELP THEM FIND FULFILLMENT AND PURPOSE AS THEY GROW TOWARDS LIVING THE LIFE THEY DESIRE

The most often cited reasons for divorce were lack of commitment (75%), infidelity (60%) and too much conflict & arguing (57%).

If women don't take the time to invest in themselves, they continue to attract dead end relationships, dating men who don't want to commit or worse off live in abuse.

Generational curses can have a ripple effect on individuals, families and communities around the world. And it is imperative that this cycle ends NOW by choosing to marry the right person.

Kate found love and started her family after the age of 40.

ABOUT Kate

For many years Kate felt a pull on her heart for more than what she was doing in her radio career. After struggling with depression for most of her adult life, Kate reached a breaking point and decided to do something different. In 2020, Kate decided it was time to leave her career in radio and begin the next chapter.

As Kate stepped into her role of podcaster and a leader for women, she originally felt led to connect with married moms. This has now transitioned into focusing on single women; something Kate feels very passionate and excited for.

Pulling from her own personal experience as a woman who met her husband, got married, and had 2 babies all over the age of 40, Kate is growing a community of single women who are striving to find fulfillment and purpose as they seek to live the life they desire.

Praise FOR kate

“I absolutely love how passionate you feel about this, Kate. I think it's great to learn from others and grow together. I want so much to be surrounded by positive, forward thinking people. Inspires me to not be complacent or fall back into old patterns. I gained so much from each day of the challenge and am reviewing my notes for things I missed. “
